The authenticated pdf of the Administrative Register (A.A.R.) posted on the Office of the Secretary of State's website is the official published version for rulemaking activity in the state of Arizona. The Register is published weekly by issue number, every Friday by the Administrative Rules Division.

The Register is cited by volume and page number. Volumes are published by calendar year. Page numbering continues in each weekly issue.

The Register contains notices of docket openings, proposed, final, emergency, expedited, exempt, and terminated rules as defined in Arizona Revised Statutes known as the Arizona Administrative Procedure Act (APA), and A.R.S. Title 41, Chapter 6, Articles 1 through 10. Other "notice only" filings are published in the Register which includes Informal Public Meetings on an Open Rulemaking Docket, Formal Rulemaking Advisory Committees, Public Information, Oral Proceedings, Public Hearings, Public Meetings, Agency Guidance Documents, Substantive Policy Statements, Proposed Delegation Agreements, Final Delegation Agreements, and Agency Ombudsman.

ABOUT AMENDMENTS TO RULES

Rulemaking is defined in the APA. Rules can be made (all new text); amended (changed) or repealed (removed) as codified in the Arizona Administrative Code; or renumbered (moving rules to a different Section number). New rules published in the Register, whether proposed or made as a final rule, are underlined; repealed rules (text being removed), is stricken.

ABOUT THE TABLE OF CONTENTS

On the cover: Each agency is assigned a Chapter in the Arizona Administrative Code under a specific Title. Titles represent broad subject areas. The Title number is listed first; with the acronym A.A.C., which stands for the Arizona Administrative Code; following the Chapter number and Agency name, then program name. For example, the Secretary of State has rules on rulemaking in Title 1, Chapter 1 of the Arizona Administrative Code. The citation for this Chapter is 1 A.A.C. 1, Secretary of State, Rules and Rulemaking.

ABOUT FILE NUMBERS

Notices filed in the Division are assigned a file number. This number is enclosed in brackets and located at the top right of the published documents in the Register. Original filed notices are available in pdf for free. For a copy, contact our Division with the file number.

ABOUT THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE

The Arizona Administrative Code (A.A.C.) contains codified text of rules. When published, the underling and striking of text in notices as published in the Register are removed. The codified rules have either been approved by the Governor's Regulatory Review Council or Attorney General as prescribed under the APA. The Code also contains rules exempt from the rulemaking process, and emergency rules. The authenticated pdf of Code Chapters posted on the Office of the Secretary of State's website are the official published version of rules in the A.A.C. The Code is posted online for free.

Participate in Rulemaking

Review Published Notices

Those interested in participating in the rulemaking process should review notices published in the Arizona Administrative Register.

The Preamble at the beginning of a notice contains information about the rulemaking and provides agency justification and regulatory intent. Agency contact information is published in the Preamble for those interested in participating in the rulemaking process.

The Preamble includes reference to the specific statutes authorizing the agency to make the rule, an explanation of the rule, reasons for proposing the rule, and the preliminary Economic Impact Statement.

Agency Contact Lists

Many agencies maintain stakeholder lists to contact those interested in proposed changes to rules. Check an agency's website and its newsletters for information about notices, oral proceedings, and meetings. Feel like a change should be made to a rule and an agency has not proposed changes? You can petition an agency to make, amend, or repeal a rule. The agency must respond to the petition. Refer to A.R.S. § 41-1033 for more information.

Attend a Public Meeting

Stakeholders can attend an public meeting, known as an oral proceeding, being conducted by the agency on a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. A proceeding may be listed in the Preamble of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking or an agency may inform the public of the meeting in a Notice of Oral Proceeding. Attend the meeting and be prepared to speak and comment.

An agency may not have a public meeting scheduled on the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. If not, you may request the agency schedule a proceeding. This request must be put in writing within 30 days after the published Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

Refer to information in the Preamble.

Write the Agency

Put your comments in writing and send them to the agency. In order for the agency to consider your comments, the agency must receive them by the close of record. The comment must be received within the 30-day comment timeframe following the Register publication of the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

You can also submit to the Governor's Regulatory Review Council written comments that are relevant to the Council's power to review a given rule (A.R.S. § 41-1052).

The Council reviews the rule at the end of the rulemaking process, before the rules are filed with the Secretary of State.

THE REGULAR RULEMAKING PROCESS

Authority

An agency is given the authority to promulgate a rule under the APA, statute passed by the Legislature, or ballot proposition, which is passed by the voters.

An agency may be given certain exemptions to the APA or portions thereof.

Information about the exemptions are provided in the Preamble of the rulemaking.

Permission to Proceed

Before moving forward with any notice, an agency first receives permission from the governor's office to proceed with a rulemaking.

The governor's office provides the agency a written response to proceed that is filed with the notice.

Stakeholder and Public Notification

The agency opens a docket. It is filed as a Notice of Rulemaking Docket Opening for publication in the Register.

The notice includes agency contact information along with its intentions to make, amend, repeal, or renumber, a rule and its justification to perform the rulemaking action. Often an agency will file the docket with the proposed rulemaking.

An agency may decide not to proceed and not file final rule with G.R.R.C. within one year after proposed rule is published. A.R.S. § 41-1021(A)(4)

Agency Proposes Rules, Public Reviews Proposal

The agency files a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking and the notice is published in the Register.

The public is given the opportunity to comment on the proposed rules. The agency opens the comment period to last at least 30 days. Written comments are accepted informally.

The notice may contain information about oral proceedings.

A proceeding is held no sooner than 30 days after the notice is published.

If no proceeding is scheduled, the agency provides information on how a person may request to speak to the agency in person at an oral proceeding.

Oral Proceeding

A person requests an agency to conduct an oral proceeding based on the information provided in its Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

The agency prepares a Notice of Oral Proceeding on Proposed Rulemaking, schedules one or more proceeding, and files the notice for publication in the Register.

When it occurs, an agency extends the public comment period.

Close of Record

After evaluating public comments and conducting an internal review of the rule, an agency:

1. Determines whether the rulemaking requires a substantial change. When an agency decides to make substantial changes to a proposed rule, it continues the process as outlined under the APA. The agency obtains permission to proceed as stated under #2 of this timeline. The agency prepares a Notice of Supplemental Proposed Rulemaking with the changes and files it for publication in the Register. Comments are once again solicited and reviewed by the agency.
2. Prepares and submits for review a Notice of Final Rulemaking for review and approval by G.R.R.C. or Attorney General. The Notice of Final Rulemaking must be submitted for review within 120 days after the close of record; or
3. Terminates the rulemaking. The agency may decide to terminate its docket and files a notice for publication in the Register notifying stakeholders of the termination. Refer to A.R.S. § 41-1021(A)(2).

Time Frame for Approval or Disapproval of the Notice

G.R.R.C. has 90 days to review and approve or return the rule package, in whole or in part; A.G. has 60 days.

The Approved Rule is Published in Register and Codified in the Code

After approval by G.R.R.C. or A.G., the rule becomes effective 60 days after filing the notice with the Office of the Secretary of State, unless otherwise indicated in the Preamble of the notice.

The Notice of Final Rulemaking is published in the Register and codified in the Arizona Administrative Code.

6. An agency's justification and reason why a rule should be made, amended, repealed or renumbered, to include an explanation about the rulemaking:

The purpose of this rulemaking is to create Section R3-4-205 to codify an exterior quarantine that was established on June 10, 2026, under Director's Administrative Order 26-01, to prevent the introduction of the Two-Spot Cotton Leafhopper (TSCL), also known as the cotton jassid (Amrasca biguttula), to Arizona. The TSCL is a serious pest of cotton and other related plant species, including okra, eggplant, potato and hibiscus. A major pathway for pest introduction has occurred through the shipment of infested host material from areas of the U.S where the pest has been found. The TSCL was recently introduced into the U.S. in 2024, in Florida, and, by early 2025, had quickly spread to east Texas. The TSCL is not known to occur in Arizona and imported host material is being monitored by the Department. In states where the TSCL has been introduced, there have been significant disruptions to agricultural trade and losses in cotton production. Therefore, establishing an external quarantine to prevent the introduction of the TSCL would significantly reduce the threat to the state's cotton industry.

7. A reference to any study relevant to the rule that the agency reviewed and proposes either to rely on or not to rely on in its evaluation of or justification for the rule, where the public may obtain or review each study, all data underlying each study, and any analysis of each study and other supporting material:

None

8. A showing of good cause why the rulemaking is necessary to promote a statewide interest if the rulemaking will diminish a previous grant of authority of a political subdivision of this state:

The rulemaking does not diminish any previous authority of a political subdivision of this state.

9. The preliminary summary of the economic, small business, and consumer impact:

The Department's intent in proposing the creation of Section R3-4-205 is to protect Arizona's agricultural industry, especially the cotton production industry. As seen in states where TSCL is present, infestations result in major damage to host crops and severely impacts production yields by up to 50%. Therefore, the introduction of TSCL into the state would severely impact the $320 million contribution to the state's economy by increasing production costs, and potential yield losses. An introduction of the pest would also impact the exportability of host plants produced in the State, in the nursery sector and in specialty crops, by requiring costly mitigation efforts to maintain an export market. The Department anticipates the rulemaking will have an overall benefit to the agricultural community by significantly decreasing the likelihood that TSCL would enter the state and will protect producers from the potential economic repercussions of a TSCL infestation by establishing an exterior quarantine. The rulemaking is not expected to result in additional costs for Arizonan businesses. The rulemaking is expected to result in some additional costs for shippers out of the area under quarantine, as they are expected to provide a certificate from a plant regulatory official of the origin state. As stated in the proposed rulemaking for R3-4-205(D), there may be additional material and labor costs incurred by shippers out of the area under quarantine to purchase pesticides, maintain equipment, etc. The Department has determined there is no less intrusive or costly alternative methods of achieving the purpose of the rulemaking. The Department will not incur any additional costs associated with the rulemaking nor require any additional full-time employees as a result of the rulemaking. Therefore, the Department has determined that the benefits of the rulemaking outweigh any costs.

6. An agency's justification and reason why a rule should be made, amended, repealed or renumbered, to include an explanation about the rulemaking:

The purpose of this rulemaking is to amend Section R3-4-229 to eliminate the pecan nut casebearer (PNCB), Acrobasis nuxvorella, from the list of nut tree pests. In October of 2023, at the end of the nut pest trapping season, the PNCB was first detected in a commercial grove in Cochise County. The Department delayed any regulatory action until more information and trapping data could be gathered. Between 2023 and the end of the trapping season in 2025, several more detections of the PNCB were found in multiple areas of southeast Arizona. It was the consensus that the industry was not in favor of additional quarantines that would limit the movement of material and equipment to other areas within the state, requiring treatment and inspection prior to movement; or provisions that would require mandated area wide control when there was a detection of the pest. Additionally, it was not in the opinion that these additional regulatory requirements would have an impact on what is already required for the export of in-shell pecan nuts to other states and countries. With a statewide deregulation of the PNCB this will allow for resources to be re-directed to other critical functions in Plant Services, including the continued monitoring and seasonal trapping for hickory shuckworm and other pests of concern for tree-nut producers in the state. Therefore, eliminating the PNCB from the list of nut tree pests would reduce the regulatory burden on the public. The Department will also make clarifying changes to ensure the rule remains clear and concise.

7. A reference to any study relevant to the rule that the agency reviewed and proposes either to rely on or not to rely on in its evaluation of or justification for the rule, where the public may obtain or review each study, all data underlying each study, and any analysis of each study and other supporting material:

No study was conducted.

8. A showing of good cause why the rulemaking is necessary to promote a statewide interest if the rulemaking will diminish a previous grant of authority of a political subdivision of this state:

The rulemaking does not diminish any previous authority of a political subdivision of this state.

9. The preliminary summary of the economic, small business, and consumer impact:

The Department's intent in proposing the amendments to Section R3-4-229 are to remove the PNCB from the list of nut tree pests so as to alleviate the regulatory burden placed on tree-nut producers and shippers. The Department anticipates the rulemaking will have an overall benefit to the regulated community as they will no longer be expected to undergo the same quarantines or restrictions as other "pests". The rulemaking is not expected to result in additional costs for the regulated community. The Department has determined there is no less intrusive or costly alternative methods of achieving the purpose of the rulemaking. The Department will not incur any additional costs associated with the rulemaking nor require any additional full-time employees as a result of the rulemaking. Therefore, the Department has determined that the benefits of the rulemaking outweigh any costs.

NOTICES OF RULEMAKING DOCKET OPENING

NOTICES OF RULEMAKING DOCKET OPENING

The Administrative Procedure Act (APA) requires an agency file a Notice of Rulemaking Docket Opening which outlines its rulemaking intentions under A.R.S. § 41-1021.

A docket opening and Notice of Proposed Rulemaking are often filed at the same time and published in the same Register issue.

If a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking is not published in this Register that corresponds with a published docket in this week's issue, it simply means the agency has not filed the notice for consideration and public review.

An agency has one year from the publishing of this notice to propose a rule; after one year the docket expires. Questions about the notice can be answered by the person listed in item #5 of the preamble.

Refer to item #6 in the preamble for information on how to comment on this notice.

3. The subject matter of the proposed rule:

The purpose of this rulemaking is to create Section R3-4-205 to codify an exterior quarantine that was established on June 10, 2026, under Director's Administrative Order DAO 26-01, to prevent the introduction of TSCL to Arizona. TSCL is a serious pest of cotton and other related plant species, including okra, eggplant, potato and hibiscus. A major pathway for pest introduction has occurred through the shipment of infested host material from areas of the U.S where the pest has been found. The TSCL was recently introduced into the U.S. in 2024, in Florida, and, by early 2025, had quickly spread to east Texas. Infestations of TSCL results in major damage to host crops and severely impacts production yields by up to 50%. TSCL is not known to occur in Arizona and imported host material is being monitored by the Department. Cotton production areas are being surveyed by the Arizona Cotton Research and Protection Council. Arizona's cotton production sector would be the most affected by the introduction of TSCL which would severely impact the $320 million contribution to the State's economy by increasing production costs, and potential yield losses. An introduction of the pest would also impact the exportability of host plants produced in the State, in the nursery sector and in specialty crops, by requiring costly mitigation efforts to maintain an export market. Therefore, establishing an external quarantine to prevent the introduction of TSCL would significantly reduce the threat to the cotton industry.

Arizona Revised Statutes (A.R.S.) § 36-136.01 requires the Arizona Department of Health Services (Department) to establish a sanitarians council and establish rules for the registration of sanitarians. In compliance with Laws 2025, Chapter 43, the Department plans to revise the rules to clarify the determination when to suspend or revoke a registered environmental health sanitarian's registration, establish and clarify a clear process for reinstating expired sanitarian licenses to simplify reapplication, and minimize confusion. In addition, Laws 2025, Chapter 43, expands eligibility for sanitarian registration by lowering the required work or military experience in environmental health from five years to three, and makes changes to the required college coursework path by requiring 30 semester hours in relevant subjects with at least 22 focused specifically on the natural sciences. This Department also plans to amend the rules to improve effectiveness and make the rules clearer and more concise and understandable. The proposed changes will comply with the current rulemaking format and style requirements of the Governor's Regulatory Review Council and the Office of the Secretary of State.
